Four unique opportunities to promote hydrogen and fuel cells global:

- 1 online with a virtual booth
- 2 at “real life” international hydrogen and fuel cells conferences or trade shows
- 3 both or
- 4 supporting

The global market entry of hydrogen and fuel cells seems to be close, however, challenges are still to be solved, especially in a period of financial turmoil and economic uncertainty like nowadays. Use the H2FCVirtualFAIR to combine real life and the internet. Expand operations, information and marketing strategies, generate broad public support to accelerate the commercialization of hydrogen and fuel cells.

Let an international experienced team support your goals!
